From: May 2012 LoAR: Astriðr Ulfkelsdottir. device. Per chevron sable and argent, three wolf's teeth issuant from dexter and three wolf's teeth issuant from sinister and a raven counterchanged.

By precedent, wolf's teeth have been considered primary charges, and so this is a primary charge group consisting of six wolf's teeth and a raven. Wolf's teeth by definition are always issuant from the sides of the field. The combination, however, of charges issuant from the sides of the field and another charge or charges in a single group like this may not be a registerable arrangement under A3D2c of the Standards for Evaluation without further documentation. However, this device is registerable under the Rules for Submissions.

Aurelia Honorata – (Calafia) New Name

Submitter desires a feminine name.

Both elements are from A Simple Guide to Imperial Roman Names Ursula Georges
<http://heraldry.sca.org/names/roman.html#wex>

Feminine names were formed by changing -us to -a.

Aurelius is listed under the Nomen. The feminine version is Aurelia.

Honoratus is listed under the Cognomen. The feminine version is Honorata.
The naming pattern Feminine Nomen + Feminine Cognomen is also listed on the same page.

Name approved and forwarded to Laurel.

Iluminada Eugenia de Guadalupe y Godoy - New Badge Change. (Fieldless) A mortar Or.

This is the defining instance of a mortar in SCA heraldry.

The mortar is a period charge, found in the arms of the Worshipful Company of Wax Chandlers, granted 1484. It's an ornate form of candlestick, used at funerals -- i.e., a mortuary candlestick. (Parker's Glossary, p.415, spells the term mortcour; but questions whether this might be an error for mortarium.) In any case, the original grant for the Company blazons the charge as morter:

Asur thre morteres royal gold upon a cheveron silver thre Roses goules seded golde. (In modern blazon, Azure, on a chevron argent between three morters royal Or, three roses gules seeded Or.)

The epithet royal in this context implies a mortar of more than common splendor: a similar use survives today in the phrase "battle royal".

Attached is a scan of the 1484 grant for the Company, showing the morters surrounding the chevron. (The unicorn supporters weren't added until 1530, and were painted directly onto the existing grant.) Also attached is a line drawing based on a confirmation of the coat granted in 1536, which may be a bit easier to make out.

Badge approved and forwarded to Laurel.

Philip Williams of Aston and Rebecca Mary Robynson. New Household Name. Aston Hall.

Spelling (including the element "Aston" as spelled) most important.

This household name follows the late period English pattern of "<surname> Hall" for household names. As precedent states: "[W]e would recommend late period household names following either of these patterns [surname] + [house or hall], [surname]+s + [house, hall, or lodge], [place name] + [house, hall, or lodge]." (Sythe Blackwolfe, Dec 2007, Calontir-R)

Aston is a late period English surname found in FamilySearch Historical Records, including:

- Henry Aston (son of Peter Aston), chr. 14 March 1597, Worcester, England, Batch C01245-2, <https://familysearch.org/ark:/61903/1:1:J3MX-S6J>
- Suzan Aston (daughter of Roger Aston), chr. 22 January 1563, Warwick, England, Batch C03991-2, <https://familysearch.org/ark:/61903/1:1:J3WQ-CPF>
- Water Aston (son of Edward Aston), chr. 9 July 1584, Warwick, England, Batch C04008-2, <https://familysearch.org/ark:/61903/1:1:J3W5-3VQ>

Aston Hall is the name of an extant manor house in Aston, Birmingham, England, constructed between 1617 and 1635, the college did not feel this was important enough to protect.

Household Name – approved and forwarded.

Philip Williams of Aston and Rebecca Mary Robynson. - New Badge. (Fieldless) On the roof of a pavilion gules a crown Or.

Both registrants received Court Baronies on 11-15-2003.

Badge – approved and forwarded.

Tryggr járngeirr Ingvarsson - New Device. Quarterly arrondi vert and gules a pike embowed per pale Or and argent and in base two spears in chevron inverted argent.

The artwork as it currently exists blurs the line between primary and secondary charges; there was substantial commentary about various issues with the design, including one of the spears obscuring the line of division, the pike's division not following a similar division of the field, and other issues. The College feels it would be a disservice to the submitter to send it up as-is, and are sending it back for redraw and reconsultation.

Consultation may include: moving fish down, changing size and position of the spears (i.e. – spear now follows line of division, two spears in fess or in chevron, fish more embowed.

Device returned for redraw.

Wintermist, Shire of – New Order Name. Lyre d'Or, Order of the Meaning “Order of the golden lyre” is most important.

While currently a shire, Wintermist will be elevated to Barony at Great Western War (Oct. 2015).

To be associated with the badge Purpure, a lyre and a bordure invected Or, which was registered April 1995.

Order of - standard Lingua Anglica designator.

Follows the pattern color + charge as illustrated in Juliana de Luna's article “Medieval Secular Order Names” (heraldry.sca.org/names/order/new). Examples include Ourdre de la Pomme d'Or (Order of the Gold(en) Apple) and Ordre de L'escu d'Or (Order of the Gold(en) Shield).

Lyre is found in OED p. 527, dated from 1205 as Lire, and 1598 Lyre, which states it is from A.F. lyre, and O.F. lire.

Larousse English French dictionary translates lyre in English to lyre in French.

Lyre d'Or is a period French phrase for golden lyre as show in the attached 1584 poem, from Oeuvres de P. de Ronsard, Gentil Homme, dated 1584, p. 330. (accessed online in Google books.

Order Name – is approved and forwarded.
